

CELEBRATE DIVERSITY FOSTER UNITY

THE DEPARTMENT OF EARTH AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES VALUES:

- acknowledging, respecting, and celebrating diversity in all forms;
- fostering supportive and inclusive environments within our Department; and,
- maintaining professionalism in all our interactions, including our roles as instructors and supervisors, during time on campus at SU, and time spent at other institutions, at conferences, on public social media platforms and all remote sites for data collection and analysis.

THE DEPARTMENT COMMITS TO:

- Treating all members of our community with respect, which includes setting clear expectations with regards to supervisors, supervisees, and students.
- Working together, free of conflict of interests to achieve shared research, teaching, and service commitments.
- Recognizing and removing barriers to inclusion within our own department and the geosciences as a whole.
- Speaking up when a member of our community is not adhering to this statement of shared values.
- Taking an active role in promoting diversity and equity, and opposing systemic racism.
- Treating this statement of shared values as a living document that will be revisited and revised once per year.
- Holding and engaging in internal workshops with selected external leaders on JEDI-related topics.
- Making a priority to regularly engage annually in one or more workshops or other deepening experiences covering topics of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Accessibility.
