Maxwell Spotlight: Center for Disability Resources

A reasonable accommodation is any modification to the job, to the way the job is done, or to the work environment that allows a person with a disability who is qualified for the job to perform the essential functions of that job and enjoy equal employment opportunities. Accommodations are considered “reasonable” if they do not create an undue hardship or a direct threat.

Students | The Center for Disability Resources (CDR)

Syracuse University and SUNY Environmental Science and Forestry Students interested in accessing disability-related accommodations to address educational barriers can review the following to get started:

- Our interactive process includes gathering as much input from you as possible regarding your educational experience and history of utilizing accommodations; therefore, allow 30 to 60 minutes to complete the registration form.
- For currently enrolled students, allow 2-3 business days for an initial review and email reply identifying your assigned access coordinator and next steps.
- You may be eligible for an expedited review if you provide the most recent third-party documentation (regardless of age) that shows a record of accommodation.
  - For questions regarding documentation, please review our documentation guidelines.
  - When uploading, if your documentation is password protected, provide the password in the document title.
  - Please note, do not wait to register with our office due to not having proper documentation. Complete the form as thoroughly as possible, detailing your learning experiences and request for specific accommodation and support.
- Please download and follow the 'Guide to Scheduling Appointments' to schedule your Welcome Meeting or any follow-up meeting. If you have difficulty with scheduling, please call CDR at 315-443-4498.
- Register here!

For more information, visit The Center for Disability Resources or Meet with an Access Coordinator during Drop-in Hours:
